REPORT OF THE JOINT CONGRES. BIONAL COMMITTEE ON PLAN FOR COUNTING THE ELEC-TORAL VOTE,

A Washington dispatch of the 19th SAYS: The report of the Joint Committed of speedy determination upon this tee to prepare negatives best calculated to accomplish the lawful counting of the electoral vote, and the best disposition of all the questions continued the uncertainty and power-like the provided therewill, starte out with the lawful country and power-like the provided therewill, starte out with the lawful country and power-like the provided therewill and the provided therewill and the lawful country and power-like the lawful country and the lawful count disposition of all the questions connected therewith, starts out with the nected therewith, starts out with the statement that the subject has been most carefully considered, and they believe the bill accompanying the best calculated to effect the desired result. There are various theories of the Constitution widely diverse, and though this bill contribute, some of the committee, violate any part of the Constitution. The Constitution requires that the electoral votes shall be counted upon a particular occasion. All will agree that these are the votes of the States, and when peace and prosperity to the country.

The bill only regulates the method of exercising it. The Constitution—coar great instrument and security for liberty and order—speaks in the simplest language for all such cases.

The bill only regulates the method in vain heretofore—to almost uninimously agree upon a plan considerable by them all to be just, wise and calciumt. We accordingly recommend the proposed act to the patroone and instruction and instruction and instructions. respective : tates, and whatever jurisin whatever aspect they may be pre-sented. It declares that Congress (Signed): shall have power to make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers and all other powers by the Constitution Government of the United States, or any department or officer there. The committee therefore think the law proposed cannot be justly assailed as unconstitutional by any one, and for this reason we think it unnecessary. whatever may be our individual Senator Morten was the only mem-views, to discuss any of the theories ber of the Committee who did not referred to. In all just Governments both public and private rights must be defined and determined by law. This is essential to the very idea of such Government, and is a characteristic distinction between free and despotic systems. However important it may be whether one citizen or another shall be Chief Magistrate for the period prescribed. upon just theories of civil institu tions it is of far greater moment that

It would be diffi-cult, if not impossible, to establish a tribunal that could be less subject to party criticisms than such a one. The principle of its constitution is so absolutely fair that we are unable to preceive how the extreme partisan can assal it—unless he prefers to embark his wishes upon the stormy Orders for Common Lumber Promptly ser of unregulated procedure, hot disjutes and dangerous results, can neither be measured nor defined, SCREIN DOORS AND WIRE GLOTH. rather turn upon the fixed and regular course of law that insures the peace and order of society, whatever party may be disappointed in its Virginia and Truckee express train arrives at hopes. The unfortuate circumstance that no provision had been made on the subject before the election has greatly added to the difficulties of the committee in dealing with it, inasmuch as many people of the country, members of the respective political parties, will perhaps look with jealousy upon any measure that seems to involve even the possibility of the defeat of their wishes; but it has also led the committee to feel that their members are bound by the highest duty to let no bias or party feeling stand in the way of just, equal and poaceful measures for extricating the question from the embarrass-ments that now surround it. hol y gl a as Virginia and Gold Hill contain. There are girls up there who do not enjoy good health because they lose so much eleep at night on account of facial nains. We saw one who resembled sugar-coated ham struck by chainlightning. Reno don't boast a lorge stock of adolescent femininity, but her female property command the highest market prices." The part of this city visited by the Reno chap when he saw that "sugar-coated-ham-struck-by-chain-lightning" girl is very evident. If his girls are no better than the gentleman's English, "the highest market prices" are too high.
